Exciting new development in Aged Living

Building on an already impressive portfolio of Aged Living homes, TLC Aged Care have this week announced their plans to build a 'state of the art' Aged Living property in Donvale, Victoria. The new home will be built on a commanding site on Mitcham Rd. with some of the rooms having views over the City of Melbourne. The property, of over 80 rooms, will include a choice of Aged Living options to respond to the higher demand on Aged Care providers to offer true 'Ageing in Place'. The property will offer the option of apartment style rooms allowing couples, where one of the partners only requires care, to remain living together. Dementia specific options will also be offered to respond to higher local demand.

Dr. John Leaper, owner of TLC Aged Care, announced the early plans for the property and added that TLC has been working on the exciting new project for some time. "Our new development at Donvale is a brave and exciting step forward for TLC Aged Care", "We believe the style of home we are building here will become the industry standard in the next 10-15 years".

The Property set for completion in early 2013 and will bring the number of TLC Aged Care homes in the group to 10. TLC's other homes are in Whittlesea, Hallam, Frankston, Noble Park (2 homes) Geelong, Altona and Wallington (2 homes).
