

Nine months → Nineteen → Ninety → Nintendo®???

The residents, families, friends and care team at TLC Aged Care's Noble Manor know how to have a good time. In the space of a single morning the people of Noble Manor enjoyed and participated in a range of intergenerational activities designed to entertain across all age groups.

The Cook Island playgroup recently celebrated their first anniversary hanging out and playing with their friends at Noble Manor.

Acting lifestyle coordinator Sam Lufa commented

“Over the past 14 or so months that the playgroup has been visiting Noble Manor we have seen some firm friendships develop to the extent that we now see our Cook Island friends as a part of our family and we are honoured that they see us as a part of their family too”.

Exit stage left... enter stage right and the Nintendo Wii® system is in full swing. One resident was heard to ask... “Why call it a ‘Wii’ ... that’s a silly name” Thankfully the “Gen Y” lifestyle team were there to help... “The word Wii® is derived from it being... ‘you and me’ or... ‘all of us having fun together’... “WE””

The tennis was a straight set victory to Noble Manor resident Clem who made short work of Samir. This exciting tournament was closely followed by a brief bout in the boxing ring. Popular resident Nancy made short work of Samir winning with a NMKO (Noble Manor Knock Out)

TLC's chief executive officer Ingrid Williams points out the serious side to all of this fun. “We are charged with a great and privileged responsibility to not just care for the clinical needs of our residents, we also need to focus on all aspects of an active and enjoyable life. We strive to develop and encourage activities and people from the full range of generations and cultures. We want to create an inclusive and fun environment for the whole family... whether you're 9 months or 90 years... we have something for everyone”.

For more information contact Alistair Henderson.

9458 7777

0421 059 887

alistair.henderson@tlcagedcare.com.au